How did the Fund perform during the reporting period?

The PFG American Funds® Conservative Income Strategy provides investors with a broadly diversified strategic allocation that seeks current income and limited price volatility, including exposure to investment grade bonds and dividend-paying equities. The PFG American Funds® Conservative Income Strategy returned +5.97% for the fiscal year ended April 30, 2026, underperforming its benchmark, the Morningstar Conservative Target Risk Index, which returned +8.51% over the same period. The Strategy benefited from strong returns across both its short duration and fixed income allocations. Key contributors to performance included the American Funds American Mutual Fund (+21.18%) and American Funds Income Fund of America (+20.06%), which leveraged dividend-paying equity exposure to boost returns, along with the American Funds American Balanced Fund (+26.47%). On a weighted basis, the American Funds American Mutual R6 (+2.03%) and American Funds Income Fund of America R6 (+1.94%) were the largest contributors to performance. While overall market volatility remained muted, the Strategy's conservative positioning and diversified approach were well-aligned with its income-oriented objective, leading to a solid year of performance in absolute terms.
